from your President

Hello Members,

Welcome all to 2025. It looks as though we are due for a great time ahead – just look at our Trips, Training and Social schedules. Our first trip was to Beachport and currently there is a trip to the Victorian high country. The trips for Environment services to the Coorong and Flinders Ranges (Gum Creek, Arkaroola and Moolooloo) are there, waiting for you log-in with TryBooking. Be quick as these fill fast.

Members are reminded that the Committee now expects a feed-back from participants at our events. This will help us to improve the event and control any issues that might have arisen. Trip Leaders and Event organisers will give Members a Feed-Back form which should be filled out (good or bad) whilst the memory is fresh, and returned to the Leader. Feed-back forms are also available on the web page. If you have guest to our event, please get and fill out the Temporary Membership Form also available on the net. You will find it on the "Joining" page.

Our new web page is making good progress, with the first (of many) test runs performed last week. There is still a lot of checking and enhancements needed before it can go live to members and public. These improvements will enhance members services considerably more than our current system.

I also congratulate our Environment Champions, Michael Polacek and Ian Frost, on getting a grant from the Friends of Parks and Nature Grants Program DEW to support TLCCSA's efforts with Cactus and Pest Weed in the Flinders and Coorong. This money will allow TLCCSA to equip itself instead of relying on borrowed gear. A great deal of effort went into achieving this grant and will now continue with the management of the monies.

Safe Travels,

V.lad

Vlad Humeniuk
TLCCSA President

Chris's Mechanical - Hawker

The 1992 80 series Sahara was sold with Alloy Wheels. While returning to Wilpena from an Easter Club Trip, the LHS front wheel departed. It jumped the fence & travelled hundreds of meters across barren ground then disappeared over the bank of a dam. Fortunately the dam was empty.

The spare wheel was attached to the vehicle using the two remaining studs and we limped to Hawker and reported to Chris's RAA Garage. Chris's Dad was left in charge as Chris was 'up north' doing a RAA rescue. Chris's Dad said that he had plenty of wheel studs & if we wanted to do the work ourselves in their Garage, (using their tools & equipment), we could save the expense of staying the night in Hawker and having to wait for Chris to schedule the work on Tuesday. The offer was gladly accepted! He then stated, "the corrugations cause the wheel nuts to come loose on aluminium rims & must be checked regularly if travelling on corrugated roads".

On completing the work about three hours later we asked what the cost would be. Obviously Chris's Dad had noticed the Toyota Club Sticker on the vehicle & answered, "a couple of bucks for each stud will do as Chris always gives preference to you Toyota guys because of the work you do at Wilpena, planting trees & repairing things". Wow!, a quick handshake, many thanks & we were on our way. Needless to say those who were with us at the time, always now buy fuel & tyres (at very competitive prices) at Chris's Garage at Hawker.

SANTA COMES TO TOWN

Our recent Club's Christmas party was held at Port Elliot, the first time the club had ventured that far south. So, what of the early history of the Club celebrating Christmas, say the first 15 years ?

Some very old records show that the very first party was held in 1971, our foundation year, at the home of members Cynthia and Gavin Sharp who lived at Tennyson. In those early years member numbers would have been low as the Club was embarking on a growth spurt. The Sharp's in fact continued to host the annual event through to 1974.

1975 saw a move to Kurralt Park Scout Hall. Now that must have been a hoot!! That continued to be the venue for 5 years through to 1979 (Club meeting's might have been at that venue then)

1980 saw a move to Colin and Jean Brown's residence at Grange where it seems 96 adults and 51 children attended. Colin is one of our current life members and at a guess he has a rather large backyard! Having not had enough in 1980 they backed up again in 1981 with 100 adults and 50 kids attending but let's assume that was a guestimate!!

1982 and we are off to SA Postal Institute and 1983 The Savings Bank Oval in the South Parklands. 1984 saw a move to Lockleys Reserve and again in 1985 when it is reported there were 120 adults and 45 children.

Life was far simpler then it seems with nowhere near the myriad of things complicating our lives today!

Fifty people enjoyed the fun and frolic at the 2024 Christmas Party weekend held at the Port Elliot Showgrounds. Most people arrived on Friday 29th November and were treated to pre-dinner drinks followed by a great meal at the Royal Family Hotel in Port Elliot. Attendees were left to a free morning on Saturday to enjoy the coastal delights and the local tourist sites.

Then the party started after lunch, with drinks, nibbles and a giant game of snakes and ladders organised by James and Linley Edwards. Then a visit from the jolly old man himself - Santa, handing out presents to everyone. As evening approached the delicious roast pork and lamb and vegetables were served along with an assortment of cakes . The night got rocking with a terrific band that played music that we all recognised and we danced the night away. The next morning featured a recovery breakfast with good ol' eggs, bacon,sausages tomatoes and hash browns - just thing to get the stomach juices flowing again.

Congratulations to Pam Humeniuk and the entire social committe for a wonderful well organised and enjoyable weekend.

Signs of the Times along the Old Ghan Railway Heritage Trail

The Outback Communities Authority (OCA) commissioned the Toyota Landcruiser Club of SA to replace the interpretive signs at selected places along the Old Ghan Railway Heritage Trail from Port Augusta to Pedirka 900 km to the north. The OCA had already replaced the Port Augusta sign at the Wadlata Centre.

We started at Port Augusta where we loaded the signs from the OCA compound. Group 1 of 6 vehicle began a day ahead of Group 2 who had 7 vehicles towing caravans. We expected that, after some 20 years in this harsh environment, there would be some rust problems with the signs. So, Group 1 in pairs were assigned to apply rust penetration spray to the bolts of each sign enroute to Copley to assist Group 2 with their chores. The plan was for Group 1 to deal with the signs from Lyndhurst to Pedirka with each pair of vehicles allotted sign that permitted leap frogging in order to save time over the 700 km journey. The Group 2 vehicles were to replace the signs from Quorn to Copley and Farina.

QUORN 2 Signs

The rail trolleys and signs stood out the front and to the right of the Flinders Ranges Visitor Information Centre at Quorn. The 2 picture signage boards, whilst faded, were still easily legible. The surrounding channel iron frames at the top of each sign were reasonable. This was not the case for the bottom iron frames as they were well rusted with flaking and in a number of places completely rusted through at the very bottom. Rust had progressed halfway up the sides of the frames. Two teams of 4 commenced on the "replacement tasks". The top frames were removed reasonably easily & quickly. Paint scrapers were used to "free up" the rust from within the side frames to shimmy the sign up & out of the frames. Extreme care had to be taken with this task to save from breaking the bottom frames, being rusted through along the length.

With the signs removed, a considerable amount of time was then taken to clean out frame cavities on the trolley. Dust blowers, tiny paint brushes & a couple of fine screwdrivers were the tools of trade to loosen the coagulated dirt/mud & iron pieces. It should be noted that the dust blower, due to the fragile state of the frames, became an indispensable tool to "clean out" the fine debris once loosened. Each of the new replacement signs, were then slowly threaded back into the cleaned frames and affixed with bolts/nuts on the top frame. The small TLCCSA plaque was then attached to the crossbar of the trolley.

Leah Andison

Hawker Sign

This sign was faded and in many parts, unreadable. The frame was stable, showing some signs of rusting considering its age. The removal of the top bars was relatively straightforward and easy given that the four bolts had been sprayed with lubricant on the previous day. Removal of the signs was very difficult as there was a rust buildup in each of the vertical frame mounts that wedged the sign in very tightly. Four 10 mm holes were drilled in the bottom bars under each vertical mount to allow for future water drainage and to dislodge and scrape away the rust buildup. A combination of repeated scouring inside the mounts with various probing tools and using a blower eventually cleared the three sides of the frame of debris so the old sign could be removed. The grooves in the frame were cleaned using a wire brush and metal scrapers and widened where necessary to receive the new sign easily. The new sign was slotted and tapped lightly into position, the top bar replaced and bolted into position. The TLCCSA plaque was affixed.

Simon Critchley

Parachilna Sign

Following a great morning tea at the Flinders Café in Hawker, a party, consisting of Brenton & Denise Manuel, Andrew Strain, Leah Andison and Brian & Sue Stone travelled up the road heading north to Parachilna. We soon found the unreadable sign in a prominent position opposite the Prairie Hotel. We all thought this is good, a quick fix and off to the pub for a drink as the day as getting warmer, Not to be,—firstly to find the right size Allen keys for the bolts as they were not the hexagonal heads as we had thought. These bolts were well rusted into position, but one by one, using leverage, Brenton was able to crack and slowly loosen each bolt until the frames were dismantled. Another bit of heaving, saw the old signs being removed and then to clean up the frame. The rust was so significant in places, a hand could be passed through the RHS tube. Eventually, the frames were cleaned up as best we could, and the new signage positioned to fit nicely along with the TLCCSA plaque. Two hours later and proud of our achievement, we headed to the Prairie Hotel for that well-earned drink!

Beltana Sign (at the Railway Station)

On arrival, approximately 11am, it was observed that the framework of the sign had been maintained & was in quite good condition. The signs were very severely affected by the harsh weather conditions, as would be expected over so many years. The removal of the bolts holding the top bar of the frame was straight forward, in comparison to many of the previous signs that we had replaced. The old signs were removed & the framework was given a good clean-out with the blower to remove many years of rust and dirt build-up. Once the frame clean-out was completed it was a simple task to insert the new signs, replace the top bar of the frame & the bolts holding the frames together. Simon & Harrison Critchley, Brenton & Denise Manuel, Andrew Strain & Leah Andison, Brian & Sue Stone, John, Sue & Joe Birchall, Steve Garland and Ian Frost were involved in this restoration processes – many hands make light work! The new signage positioned to fit & the TLCCSA plaque was installed. This was all completed in less than an hour.

Copley

As we approached the sign just outside the Copley Caravan Park, it was clear that the local community had taken great care in maintaining both the sign and its surroundings. The metal mounting frame was in excellent condition, and the two bolts at the top came off easily, thanks to their thorough lubrication. We slid the new sign into place and secured it, adding a plaque to recognise the efforts of TLCCSA. The entire task was completed in about 30 minutes. On our way back to the park, two tourists stopped to take photos, giving us a satisfying sense of instant gratification.

Sue Birchall

Lyndhurst

This was the first sign encountered by Group 1. We had been warned that we might have to screw the new sign over the original one. Ray & Heather with some assistance from Kim were surprised when they could actually remove the bolts holding the frame. However, their hopes were soon dashed as they tried to remove the rusted signs from the frame. It was necessary to use a combination of drilling through the old sign and the use of vice grips to leverage the the sign from the frame. Once the old signs were removed and the rusty frames thoroughly de-rusted and cleaned, the new signs were soon installed, and we headed off towards Marree.

Farina

After a leisurely start to the morning, a 60 km drive to Farina and a search party to find where the sign was located.

The task would begin. The frame around this sign was in better condition than others that we had changed, but getting the signs out was more of a challenge and took some time. We had to punch a couple of holes through the old sign with a screwdriver to get some leverage to get them to be loosened and finally move and remove them.

Then came the task of cleaning the two frames out; again, this was a challenge considering how good a condition these frames were, and to get the rust and dirt that had built up over the years. Several 12mm holes were drilled in the bottom rail in each corner, and after a lot of scraping and blowing all was cleaned and ready for the new signs to be installed. Replacing the top rails was not as simple considering there were only two bolts to hold down the four corners. Some ingenuity was required here, two pieces of steel were found on the rail trolley and were bent to form a right angle, then one side drilled which allowed this to be screwed to the frame and hold the top rail in place. The TLCCSA sign was attached. Another job well done by all helpers, photographers, note takers and supervisors.

Stephen Garland

Marree

After leaving Copley, Richard, Andy, Win, Andrew and Pam stopped very briefly at Lyndhurst to unload the sign required there and to get a quick insight into the job ahead of us. Feeling a little more confident about the process, we were soon on the road to Marree. The first challenge was to work out what technique had been used to secure the old signs. It seemed that no two signs had been secured by the same method. Then it became a relatively straightforward job, after much trial and error to find the correct Allen key to undo the frame. Soon the rest of Group one had arrived, as this was the spot where we all needed to air down before hitting the dirt of the Oodnadatta track, and expert opinion was given on this important task.

VALE - Shirley Wigglesworth

Members are advised of the recent passing of Shirley, a Club Life Member. We extend our sincere condolences to Kevin and family. Shirley and Kevin joined the Club in 1988 and even in recent times Kevin would still attend regular meetings. Shirley was our 'social queen' as she was 17 years in that role starting in 1989. We have club records of trips from 2001 which show Shirley organised 50 activities. It is of course highly likely there were a lot more before 2001. Shirley ran the role solo for many years but would assemble 'the ladies team' whenever necessary. Early Christmas functions were far removed from what we do today. Mid-afternoon Shirley would assemble the ladies and the vegetable peeling would begin. One of Shirley's specialities was to buy everyone an ice cream to conclude a social activity.

Shirley has made a wonderful contribution to the life of our Club.

Shirley will be remembered in a private family service.

Richard T, Burgo and his guest Dave Stoneman did the Curdimurka signs. We had thought the band and crowd of onlookers would be awaiting to applaud our engineering skills - but alas just a squadron (each) of over-friendly flies ! The job was reasonably straightforward-and, after leaving the old signs at the gate for later collection - we were soon heading north again into (what blind dopey critics call) The GAFA....The Great Australian F All....unless you know of the MANY things to see and experience in our great outback!

Coward Springs

When we arrived at Coward Springs, the owner was not prepared for our visit. After some negotiations, he showed us where the sign was located. Kim & Pin started work on the sign as Pam & Andrew arrived to assist. We had some difficulty extracting the signs from the rusted frames until we used the vice grips to hold these signs while we juggled them clear of the frames. Once the signs were removed, we diligently cleaned the frames before installing the new signs. We took the final photos and went back to the Coward Springs Caravan Park kiosk and swapped one of the old signs for coffee and date ice creams.

Pin Needham

William Creek

The Old Ghan Rail trolley at William Creek was conveniently located in the park opposite the famous William Creek Hotel, which was amply convenient for thirst quenching. This trolley proved a tricky restoration with setscrews well and truly seized into the frame necessitating their grinding off. After extracting the many years of bulldust that had accumulated in the frame, the new panels were easily located into the frames. The issue of re-attaching the top rails was solved using Richard's arc welder plugged into the generous William Creek Hotel's power outlet. The frames were then bolted to the trolley and the TLCCSA plaque affixed on our return journey. This was duly completed with the presentation of the old Algebuckina Bridge sign to the pub for services rendered.

Algebuckina Bridge

On Sunday, 13 October 2024 the highly talented and skilled team consisting of Andrew, Pam, Richard, Win and myself were tasked with replacing the tourist information board frame as well as replacing the old signs with new signs at the Algebuckina Bridge site. The team approached the task vigorously and met and overcame a few challenges, including trying to remove the rusted and rounded off bolts holding the frame onto the trolley and, while attempting to fit the new frame found that the bolts supplied were the incorrect ones! Fortunately, I had a grinder which I used to cut the old bolt heads off and for the fixing of the new frame, Andrew had some new bolts in his kit that helped with overcoming the issue with the incorrectly supplied new bolts for attaching the frame onto the trolley. The team worked well together each contributing willingly while achieving a very 'professional' job by 'amateurs' and once completed, were immediately appreciated by visitors soon after completion of the team's efforts.

Algebuckina Bridge

Unlike the other signs provided as replacement signage, the ones for the Algebuckina Bridge were to be replaced complete with its own infrastructure holding the signs in place. This whole piece of equipment had been collected from the Outback Communities Authority (OCA) Office at Port Augusta on our way to Copley to start our section of the installation work. It was transported to the site in the back of Richard's Hilux. On the morning of the day, we were to replace the sign, the group, consisting of Win, Andy, Pam and Richard drove back from Oodnadatta to the Bridge. An uneventful trip and we arrived full of enthusiasm. We then had to carry the new signs in their sturdy galvanised mounting up the steep embankment at the approach to the huge bridge. The stairs cut into the side of the embankment certainly needed some maintenance. The redundant signs were unbolted, disassembled and loaded into Andrew's car. The new signs were lifted into position on the trolley, but the bolts provided by the OCA had shanks with insufficient thread on them. New bolts were found amongst the crew's vehicles and the sign was secured. One of the old signs, with bullet holes, was later donated to the William Creek Hotel on our return journey.

Oodnadatta

After installing the Algebuckina Bridge Sign, Richard, Andrew & Pam with Andy & Win headed for Oodnadatta where they started work on the Oodnadatta sign on the hottest day of the trip. Andrew erected his car awning over the worksite to assist the job, but it was still over 37C in the shade. The extremely faded face of the sign was testament to the frequent heat experienced in this area. The frame was corroded and required dismantling for the removal of the old sign. Unfortunately, the extreme heat became overwhelming for one member of the group, and we needed to down tools and make use of the fabulous medical centre and its wonderful staff to treat the heat exhaustion that occurred. Meanwhile, Richard packed up all the sign stuff & the McDonald's car was returned to camp. Next morning, at 0730

Pedirka

Pedirka was the northernmost Old Ghan Railway sidings that had its information panels replaced, this trip. Pin & Kim with Burgo & Dave were joined by Heather & Ray at Pedirka on a hot morning with a strong northerly wind. Like many other sidings, the trolleys used to hold the frames and panels had become a storage place for all forms of metallic relics found on site. Pedirka was not only unique due to its remoteness and the desolation of the old buildings, but it was the only siding where a person or persons unknown had removed a panel. Fortunately, the souvenir hunters had left behind the top frame which, following the usual blowing out of significant amounts of rust & bulldust, enabled the new interpretive information panels to be installed. Having completed the job we were all pleased to get back into our airconditioned vehicles for the drive back to Oodnadatta after having lunch in a shady anabranch of the Neales River.

Fleurieu Peninsula Day Trip 2024 - Lions Club of Yankalilla

On Saturday October 12th, the Club conducted its annual Fleurieu Peninsula Day Trip in conjunction with the Lions Club of Yankalilla. This event is organised each year by the Lions Club as a fundraiser, the proceeds of which are invested in local community projects.

The day trip travels mainly along the very scenic coastal areas of the Fleurieu Peninsula and traverses private farming properties and tracks that are not normally accessible to the public. This privileged access to private property provides stunning coastal views, drives through beautiful valleys, across green pastures, and through some heavily native-forested areas, all along some fun dirt tracks to drive. Each convoy is led by a member of the Lions Club, who is generally the owner of one of the private properties traversed, and who provides an interesting commentary about the local area, the farming activities, the local history, and any other questions that arise over the UHF radio.

After an early briefing by the Lions Club organisers and the opportunity to air-down our tyres, about 16 vehicles departed from Yankalilla Oval in several convoys from around 9:00am, including some guest vehicles from the Mount Lofty Rangers 4WD Club. Initially we headed South along the bitumen, but it wasn't long before we were on the dirt. Initially we drove through residential areas and back roads to Dairy Flat where we passed a number of dairy farms.

Then heading west back towards the coast, the tracks took us to a high point overlooking Yankalilla Bay, where we stopped for a morning tea break and to admire the coastal views back towards Normanville.

The next stage took us along the coastal cliffs and adjacent farmlands, passing many of the 'local resident' cattle who must have wondered what we were all about. The odd kangaroo was also observed. We passed nearby to Wirrina Cove Resort with views of the adjacent Wirrina Reservoir. Shortly after, we stopped to explore the ruins of an old sandstone structure next to a creek that was associated with an old gold mine that operated briefly back in the late 1800's. The track then climbed steeply upwards and past the opening of the gold mine, where we reflected on the back-breaking effort of those days of manually getting the gold diggings down to the creek for sluicing to find the gold. Apparently, the venture didn't last long.

We then headed into Second Valley where all stopped to prepare and enjoy lunch and use the toilet facilities (there may have been the odd ice cream purchased as well.)

After lunch, the afternoon took us along tracks near Rapid Bay, and Delamere.

We were privileged to drive through the Starfish Hill Wind Farm, which is normally locked and inaccessible to the public. Although (due to safety reasons) we weren't allowed to stop and get out of our vehicles, we were still able to marvel at the rows of these graceful giant wind turbines.

The final leg took us along some fun dirt tracks, including one very steep descent, and eventually down into Cape Jervis. We ended the drive at around 3:30pm at the Cape Jervis Lookout, overlooking the Ferry Terminal and with a great view across to Kangaroo Island. We all aired-up our tyres to road pressures, swapped very positive impressions of a great day, and said our farewells before heading back home. A most enjoyable and unique day highly recommended to all.

Turning the tables on buffel

Ministers meet to beat buffel threat

In a groundbreaking move for weed control in South Australia, the Deputy Premier and four other cabinet ministers convened in Adelaide in November for a ministerial roundtable on buffel grass. This historic meeting brought together senior executives and key stakeholders, and was initiated by the Hon. Dr Susan Close MP, the Deputy Premier and Minister for Climate, Environment and Water, following her visit to the Alinytjara Wilurara Landscape Board's March meeting.

During that session, AW General Manager Kim Krebs and Mark Anderson from the National Parks and Wildlife Service (NPWS) delivered a joint presentation, highlighting the substantial resources required to tackle the buffel grass threat and emphasising the importance of collaboration between AW, NPWS, the Far West Coast Aboriginal Corporation, and the Eyre Peninsula Landscape Board.

The Deputy Premier also took time to listen to the board's concerns and pledged to bring together senior ministers and bureaucrats for a high-level discussion to address the issue effectively. "Buffel Grass is widely regarded as one of the greatest threats to biodiversity in South Australia's arid and semi-arid rangelands," Dr. Close said. "It also poses significant fire hazards and can degrade landscapes, destroying vital habitats for native flora and fauna. At the roundtable, I was heartened to witness such a wide coalition of stakeholders working together to confront this pressing challenge to both people and our environment." This roundtable marked a significant departure from the traditional approach to policy development, which typically involves considerable preparatory work by departmental staff before ministers are engaged.

"This flips the script," said Kim Krebs. "It's inspiring to see the level of commitment from the Deputy Premier and her cabinet colleagues. It's clear that combating a transformative weed like buffel grass demands a coordinated effort from multiple agencies, landholders, and stakeholders. To start from the top and build a unified statewide strategy is truly exciting." The Deputy Premier was joined by the Hon. Tom Koutsantonis MP, Minister for Infrastructure and Transport, and Energy and Mining; the Hon. Clare Scriven MLC, Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development; the Hon. Joe Szakacs MP, Minister for Local Government; and the Hon. Nick Champion MP, Minister for Planning. Senior executives from each department attended, alongside representatives from various stakeholder groups, including the Local Government Association, Primary Producers SA, Country Fire Service, Outback Communities Authority, Livestock SA and the Nature Alliance.

In the first hour of the meeting, the ministers were given an in-depth introduction to buffel grass management, including detailed explanations of the weed's economic, ecological, social, and cultural impacts. Kim Krebs provided an overview of the issue and the current management efforts, followed by a thorough presentation from buffel grass ecologist Ellen Ryan-Colton. Drawing on her years of research, Ms Ryan-Colton highlighted the severe ecological damage caused by buffel grass, including its disruptive effects on plant and animal communities, as well as its impact on fire regimes.

Department for Energy and Mining (DEM) outlined some of the potential future risks, along with options for policy and strategy. Tim Hall from NPWS spoke from the heart about his personal regrets about not addressing the growing buffel problem many years ago in a previous role in the Northern Territory, telling the assembled guests there was an opportunity now to prevent further disaster in the rangelands.

Georgie Cornish from the CFS delivered a compelling presentation, highlighting how buffel grass is already placing an increasing strain on CFS volunteers. She warned that further spread of the weed, particularly as it moves south, could have disastrous consequences for a growing number of communities. A key theme that emerged throughout the presentations was that roads and rail are the primary vectors for the spread of buffel grass. By the end of the session, everyone in the room had a heightened awareness of the significantly increased fire risk the state faces if the weed continues to spread unchecked.

With a clearer understanding of the scale of the buffel grass crisis, the ministers left the roundtable, allowing delegates to work together on potential solutions. In groups, the delegates explored possible policy changes, strategic partnerships, and the funding needed to address the threat. For over an hour, the groups engaged in lively discussions, exchanging ideas and perspectives, and developing solutions that will be analysed and refined into a formal proposal to be presented to the Deputy Premier.
